

Dr. Ambar Andrade

Director of Cardiomyopathy and Recovery at BUMCP

Dr. Ambar Andrade is the Director of Cardiomyopathy and Recovery at BUMCP and an Associate Clinical of Medicine at the University of Arizona. She cares for patients with advanced heart failure, with a focus on myocardial recovery. She trained at Northwestern Memorial Hospital in advanced heart failure, Texas Heart Institute in cardiology, and Washington University in St. Louis in internal medicine. Prior to moving to Arizona, she worked as an advanced heart failure, transplant, and mechanical circulatory support cardiologist at Advocate Christ in Oak Lawn IL. She has survived 2 summers in Arizona and is looking forward to many more.